Forty women and 35 men were brave enough to go forth into the extreme rigor of the Meadow Vista wildlands in spite of brilliant sun, balmy temps and still air. It was a "no excuses" day, which is terrifying for all those who intently watch their watches. No records were set that we know of, however, some interesting patterns emerged from the results.

Veterans of the yearly Western States 100-Mile Run from Squaw Valley to Auburn were scattered in at the top of their races. Lee McKinley won the men's 10K for the 5th time, and Beverley Anderson Abbs (a very fast lady) accidentally won the women's 10K by jogging beside husband Alan Abbs in his uncontested effort to be the 2017 HUNKS WITH HOUNDS 10K winner. Lily Chaput, 33 seconds behind Bev at the finish, commented, "She was walking some of the time, and I still couldn't catch her." Yep, that's Bev! Another Allen (Reid) picked up the 5K HUNKS WITH HOUNDS, Judy Shipman beat out Linda Brown for the 10K BABES WITH BOWSERS, and Katrina Thompson had the 5K BABES WITH BOWSERS all to herself.

The oldest CYJJ finisher is still Auburn's Betts Strah, who was 82 when she ran a 51:51 5K in 2015, but Auburn's Karen Reitz, 80, and Santa Rosa's Darryl Beardall, 81, are closing in on that honor.

There were four past heads of nations who came to Meadow Vista to share Christmas with us in the peaceful anonymity of our quiet village. They came, enjoyed the ambiance, and left quietly without creating a stir. As one would expect, they sought security in anonymity by not filling out their tags. And although they were all recognized by the race director (a major politician in his own right), he respected their privacy and security by holding back on their recognition until now. They ran in pairs: Boris with his old friend Golda, and Indira with her old friend Margaret. Hopefully, by next year, the world will be secure enough for them to safely fill out their tags.
